

SLASHER CARVES OUT A THIRD CHAPTER

Production is underway on the third installment of anthology psychological thriller series Slasher, created by Aaron Martin and produced by Shaftesbury. The third season will premiere on Netflix with an ensemble cast including returning and new faces.

Season 3 is set over a 24-hour period on the Summer Solstice, the longest day of the year. When a young man is brutally killed in front of his apartment building, he is surrounded by witnesses who do nothing to help. One year later, terror strikes the apartment complex once again when someone seemingly seeks bloody revenge on the neighbours and witnesses who did nothing during the murder.

Seasons 1 and 2 are both currently available on Netflix.

Slasher is developed and produced by Shaftesbury and created by Aaron Martin. Slasher is executive produced by Aaron Martin, Christina Jennings, Scott Garvie, and Ian Carpenter, who also serves as showrunner; Jay Bennett is producer; Adam MacDonald is director. Kew Media Group is the global distributor of the series.